

2018 Anthill Farms product-pdf - Pinot Noir Sonoma Coast - Case Buy! Anthill Farms Pinot - $29!

Why We're Drinking It

I literally drank 2 bottles of this EXCELLENT, truly delicious, fine, and WAY-OVER-its-price-range Pinot last night at Charter Oak in St. Helena. Wow!

93 POINTS Wine Advocate (and 92 Vinous) and we're telling you - serious, major yum factor. FREE SHIPPING on 4+ bottles to boot! Silky, mouthfilling, rich and finely-tuned Pinot -- normally $40! I loved the succulent texture, tea and cherry...mhm! So stoked to have a few cases to sell!

Webster Marquez, Anthony Filiberti, and David Low met while working at Sonoma's Williams Selyem in 2003. In 2004, they started Anthill Farms, making eight-and-a-half barrels of wine the first year. Today, they make eight single-vineyard Pinots and two appellation wines every year; depending on the vintage. They also produce two or three Syrahs and a Chardonnay. Outside of their mailing list, a small amount of wine is released every year to restaurants and wine shops and is one of Sonoma's most sought after producers.

Wine Advocate, 93 points: "The 2018 Pinot Noir Sonoma Coast is a blend of wine from the Anthill Farms single-vineyard cuvées, made with about 15% to 20% new French and Austrian oak and 40% whole clusters. Medium ruby-purple, it has pure scents of cranberries, blackberries, black tea leaves, fragrant earth and garrigue. In the mouth, it's concentrated but light on its feet with a silky texture, floral fruits, seamless freshness and a long finish."

Vinous, 92 points: "The 2018 Pinot Noir (Sonoma Coast) is a pretty big, dark wine relative to prior editions. Dark cherry, plum, lavender, sage, spice and menthol shape this brooding appellation-level Pinot from Anthill Farms. Readers will find an especially potent, virile Pinot with tons of character."

First come, first served...!

VARIETAL

Pinot Noir

APPELLATION

Sonoma Coast, California

ALCOHOL

13.40

SIZE

750ml

BLEND

Pinot Noir

The Story to Know

Webster Marquez, Anthony Filiberti, and David Low met while working at Sonoma's Williams Selyem in 2003. In 2004, they started Anthill Farms, making eight-and-a-half barrels of wine the first year. Today, they make eight single-vineyard pinots and two appellation wines every year; depending on the vintage. They also produce two or three syrahs and a Chardonnay. Outside of their mailing list, a small amount of wine is released every year to restaurants and wine shops.

Ratings

Robert Parker's Wine Advocate, 93 points

"The 2018 Pinot Noir Sonoma Coast is a blend of wine from the Anthill Farms single-vineyard cuvées, made with about 15% to 20% new French and Austrian oak and 40% whole clusters. Medium ruby-purple, it has pure scents of cranberries, blackberries, black tea leaves, fragrant earth and garrigue. In the mouth, it's concentrated but light on its feet with a silky texture, floral fruits, seamless freshness and a long finish."

Vinous, 92 points

"The 2018 Pinot Noir (Sonoma Coast) is a pretty big, dark wine relative to prior editions. Dark cherry, plum, lavender, sage, spice and menthol shape this brooding appellation-level Pinot from Anthill Farms. Readers will find an especially potent, virile Pinot with tons of character."
